Notes -- Big thanks this week go to Roger Miller, guitarist-vocalist-songwriter for Boston's Mission, who co-hosted this week's show while the band hung around town for a couple days before traveling to Memphis. He picked much of the music, allowed us the world premier of the Birdsongs of the Mesozoic EP, and even did the weather....Mission of Burma's Monday night show at Off-the-Wall Hall was an amazing success for a Monday night. More than 130 people turned out, even after a mixup over the date of the gig....The next "Alternative America" presentation is the Wipers, Monday November 22. Although their albums have been spotty, when the Wipers hit, their garage grunge cannot be beat. "When it's Over" is an undeniable classic, and their latest 45, "Romeo", is hot....Mortal Micronotz will be playing with the Replacements Thanksgiving weekend in Minneapolis, with other dates to follow...."Alternative America" will take a slightly different form for the November 16 show, with Marc Burch, host of KJHK's "Debraining Machine", taking over the mike for kind of an industrial "Alternative America". I'll be at R.E.M.....
